

Education Research Unit: Faire l'histoire / Making History

Canadian History at the Crossroads

The Canadian History at the Crossroads Symposium will provide a unique opportunity to explore topics of historical consciousness, public discourse, history and museum pedagogies and acts of remembrance and commemoration in collaboration with academics, museum curators, artists, Indigenous elders and award-winning educators from across the country.

Participants will enjoy panel discussions, tour the Canada Museum of History's special exhibitions, Duplessis Gives to His Province, the Empress of Ireland and Snow, pilot the museum's new educational programs and engage in dialogue during the event.

The Symposium is a collaboration among the Canadian Museum of History, the Social Sciences and Humanities, the Research Council, and the Education Research Unit : Faire l'histoire/Making History, Faculty of Education, University of Ottawa.
